Protecting and Improving the Paxton Creek Watershed

The Paxton Creek Watershed and Education Association (PCWEA)

is a nonprofit, all-volunteer organization dedicated to protecting and improving the Paxton Creek Watershed, a 27-square-mile area in and northeast of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Centuries of growth and development have impacted the ecological health of Paxton Creek and other waterways flowing into the Susquehanna River and the Chesapeake Bay. PCWEA encourages residents and stakeholders to learn about—and to protect—our watershed and its resources for future generations.

PCWEA provides outreach and educational resources on stormwater management, water quality, flood prevention, and responsible watershed stewardship to residents, businesses, civic groups, and municipalities.
